Microspheres

Microspheres are added to AeroMarine epoxies to decrease weight and provide a better surface for sanding. They are exceptional in making lightweight easily sanded bonds and fillets. You can add in fumed silica along with the microspheres to prevent sagging. We recommend pre-measuring the resin and hardener and mixing the microspheres in with the resin prior to adding the hardener to save your work life. Once the microspheres are thoroughly mixed into the resin add the hardener. Microspheres can be added to urethane casting resin when making hard body swim baits to help with weight.
